Through youth and adult skill building classes and conflict management workshops, individuals are empowered to see and use conflict as an opportunity to grow, learn, and create positive change in their lives. Out skill building class, Addressing Conflict and Anger Effectively (youth and adult options), provides an opportunity to become equipped with new skills to communicate effectively to solve problems and build relationships. Our mix of understanding anger and emotions with conflict management skills helps participants work through defensiveness and build a shared understanding with others, ultimately finding mutually satisfactory solutions to sources of conflict. We offer a variety of off-site workshops related to conflict management, escalation and building as well. We served

Through school partnerships, the Organization partners with schools to foster a community of inclusion, where students feel safe to be themselves and nurtured to build positive relationships. Restorative Practices offers an alternative to punitive discipline in schools. Restorative Practices is a philosophy, not a curriculum, that focuses on building positive relationships and providing opportunities for community members to take responsibility for their behavior while remaining connected to the community. Restorative Practices are rooted in social justice, directly disrupting the school-to-prison-pipeline. Through Restorative Practices we utilize tools to hold students accountable for their actions while keeping them in school and out of the school-to-prison-pipeline by implementing

4c (Code:) (Expenses $ 118,913 including grants of $) (Revenue $ 1,601)

Our programs focused on whole-school culture also include Social Norming, Hot Spot Mapping and Reading for Peace.

Social Norming is built on the concept that most students engage in and want to engage in positive, healthy behaviors, but they believe their peers engage in negative, unhealthy behaviors. As a result, many students do things they personally believe are wrong in order to gain acceptance by their peers. Social Norming works by using "positive peer pressure" to educate students about what positive, healthy behaviors are truly acceptable by their peers. These behaviors and beliefs about perceived norms of behavior among peers are determined through a school-wide survey.

Form 990 - Organization's Mission

Through our youth and adult classes and conflict management workshops, we empower individuals to see and use conflict as an opportunity to grow, learn, and create positive change in their lives. We partner with schools to foster a community of inclusion, where students feel safe to be themselves. We shift school culture to build nurturing, positive relationships, and to implement a restorative culture where students are held accountable within the school community, making punitive discipline the exception rather than the norm. At The Conflict Center, we believe that all of us are capable of and responsible for building healthy relationships in our homes, schools, congregations, workplaces, and communities.

Hot Spot Mapping is a student-driven program which asks students to identify places where and people with whom students feel most safe. Hot Spot Mapping has significant potential to help schools and other community organizations not only identify areas for improvement related to safety and culture, but also center the community in creating solutions. We piloted Hot Spot Mapping at one high school serving over 414 students.

Reading for Peace is a multi-generational reading program for elementary schools devoted to reading and discussing the books which teach and reinforce the socio-emotional skills. We conducted Reading for Peace in 10 schools, serving 1,320 students.
