PEACE in a Box

A FREE Peace Box for kids & their families in our community packed with skill-building activities, crafts & surprises!

INFORMATIONAL PAGE

Peace Day began in 2018 as a free community event to introduce families with elementary-aged children to the concepts of positive communication and healthy relationships in a way that is both fun and accessible. Now featuring a take home Peace in a Box to continue the skill-building and learning as a family.

ENGAGING COMMUNITY AT PEACE DAY

This event brings families in the metro area together on-site at TCC for a carnival-style day of fun activities that promote conflict transformation themes such as naming emotions, learning to talk about feelings with trusted adults and finding creative ways to cool down when angry.

PEACE IN A BOX INCLUDES...

Each child takes home a Peace Box and a book based on the skills and themes taught in TCC's programs and curated by volunteers from TCC's Reading for Peace program. In addition to distribution of Peace in a Box at Peace Day, a total of 1,000 boxes are distributed through community partners after the event.

Peace in a Box includes:

- individual and family activities
- crafts and games
- skill-building exercises
- a free social-emotional skills book

These activities have the goal of building emotional self-awareness, fostering stronger, deeper relationships between kids and trusted adults, and encouraging positive self-talk while developing healthy coping strategies for dealing with anger.

BOX DISTRIBUTION: JUNE 10, 2023

Summary:

- specially designed peace boxes for kids aged 4—10
- boxes offered in English & Spanish
- focus on social-emotional learning

Every year, The Conflict Center distributes 1,000 Peace Boxes to families in the Denver Metro area!

Peace Day offers a unique opportunity to help families connect while learning valuable skills to help kids name and understand emotions.
